

PL 416 Geographic Information Systems (1)

The main learning outcome for students enrolled in this course is to understand the principles of Geographic information Systems) GIS (and to be able to use this technique in urban planning fields. Moreover, it aims at increasing the student's knowledge of technical means and computer applications in building spatial and attribute databases in the ArcGIS Software environment.