

432 PL Site Design and Landscape

The course introduces the concepts of site design and landscape. It aims at increasing student' awareness and knowledge of the environment, the eco-system and the importance of physical and social environments integration. Also, the course aims to develop and improve student' site analysis skills and landscape design