

PL 480 Urban Planning Project-3

The project focuses on preparing a structure plan for city and grasping the different stages and steps for its preparation. It also discusses the factors that are bound to affect urban development and the directions of urban growth. To understand this phenomenon, the student is required to gather and collect the necessary data about the city and the factors affecting its development whether they may be economic, social, demographic, or even physical. Other parameters like regional and national influences are also taken into account. All these information are then processed, categorised and analysed and urban scenario for the future of the city are established. The student will have to evaluate these scenarios and decide for the most plausible one to develop it further as the city structure plan.
