

PL 481 Land Use Planning and Transportation

The course aims to introduce students to issues and principles of land use planning and transportation in urban areas. Also, it aims to introduce students to the relationships of land use planning and transport for efficient urban and environmental sustainability and social justice.